Important service and equipment information

Serviceability: Unfortunately, we cannot guarantee connection until we successfully install your service.

Priority Assistance: We do not offer Priority Assistance. A provider who does is Telstra.

Battery back-up: We do not support battery back-up functionality for nbn services and in most cases, nbn services will not function during a power failure.

Accessibility: For information about products and services we offer for customers with different disabilities, please see: <https://www.amaysim.com.au/help/account/accessibility-and-disability-support-information>

Speed & Video Quality: Many factors affect speed and video quality such as internet traffic, your line condition, your hardware and software, the data source or destination, your location and the number of simultaneous video streams or other downloads you have running over your connection.

BYO Modem: To take up one of these plans you must bring your own modem, you acknowledge and agree that:

- amaysim does not offer a phone service with our NBN plans, which means you won't have access to a landline home phone service that you can use to make or receive calls or contact emergency services like 000.
- It's your responsibility to ensure your self-supplied modem is nbn compatible and can be used on the nbn.
- If you have chosen the faster of our speed plans (Fast As and Superfast As) you will need to ensure that your self-supplied modem is able to deliver the faster speed to your devices. We recommend Wi Fi 6 modems for these plans. You should contact your device supplier to find out if your device will work before connecting to the nbn network.
- amaysim will only be able to provide you with general support for your service. We won't be able to identify or fix faults related to your self-supplied modem, you'll need to contact the manufacturer directly.
- nbn® reserves the right to refuse to fix a fault where it considers a modem to be the cause or to suspend a service where it considers a modem to be unsupportable or a risk to the network.
- We're required to test the service is working but because we only offer BYO plans, we can't do these test. You will need to tell us if there are any issues with your nbn service before those issues will be rectified.
